MIE NØRGAARD

Mie Nørgaard is assistant professor at the Aarhus School of Architecture and has a background in Interaction Design. With the local Design Group she is currently occupied with exploring the aesthetic values of designs involving hybrid organisms, but her interests also span shape changing interfaces and curious robotic entities.

TIM MERRITT

Tim Merritt is assistant professor at the Aarhus School of Architecture and has a background in Interaction Design. He has been involved in various biomedica projects, with interests in shape changing interfaces, sustainable systems and exploring how people respond to artificial (and semi-artificial) agents.
